DelDOT Secretary Embarks on Statewide Listening Tour

Goal is to Educate Public on Transportation Needs

Dover – Delaware Department of Transportation Secretary Carolann Wicks will take to town halls and meeting rooms to discuss the proposed path forward for transportation system funding.

Over the next several months, Wicks will be presenting to more than a dozen groups, including several local governments. More speaking engagements will be announced as they are added. Media outlets will be notified prior to appearances where the public may attend.

The listening tour will include a summary of the transportation component of Gov. Ruth Ann Minner's budget submission. Secretary Wicks' presentation supplements the Governor's budget, focusing on the state of the transportation system, current funding constraints and proposed revenue increases. Wicks will also be taking questions from those who attend.

"My hope is to show people where we have been, where we are, and what we will need to continue to deliver projects and services to our customers," Wicks said.
